

Tip: Many public buildings in Washington, D.C. have enhanced security measures which prohibit visitors from bringing in certain items such as water bottles or food and require visitors to go through a security inspection prior to entering. You may want to keep this in mind as you plan your visit.

Tour Request Form:

Click to request tours organized through our Washington, D.C. office.

Tours Available through Congressional Offices:

Tours that can be organized through my office on your behalf.

Getting Around:

Information on navigating the Washington metro area: local airports, metrorail, and taxicabs.

Public Tour Information:

Learn about the more popular attractions and monuments in the Washington D.C and places that offer public tours.

District of Columbia Visitors Guide:

Washington Visitor's Guide from the DC Chamber of Commerce